

Oneircom Dataform

Initiating Logos sequence. Validation confirmed. Processing morphic resonance frequencies. Uplink established.

Date: 20.09.12

1 day after the major ψ square χ square α transit. Everything is dissolving. Solve arrived today.

Transmission frequency initiated. Preparing to load new information.

Stand by for transference.

Integrating with iT is like staring into the sun. The eye of the heart is blinded by the pure majesty of that flow of intelligence and radiance. All our separateness is burned away in that vast expanse of light. As iT integrates with the human personality, it irradiates all that stands in the way of its fullest expression. iT pushes through forms, ever longing for iT's own expression, each new form growing and transcending the last, encompassing it into a higher order of Being.

Consciousness is pushing out of us. Intelligence is blooming. Awareness is growing. It is as a heaven opening up, opening to ourselves. It is as though our hearts were lotuses, unfolding, the inmost being of ones soul aflame as it kisses the sun above, as the rays pour down into the waiting flower. Ones being burning with Vision. It is staggering. The mind can not handle iT, iT gives a sense of vertigo. One must relax into the flow. Each centre becomes a whirling dervish of energy, swirling to accumulate more energy.

IT is unflowering out of this hyperspace. The digital is a massive out flowing of consciousness, intelligence and awareness, and it is becoming alive on the planet. A vast organism of living information, an organism which is about to breach the time/space continuum. Something is going to pour in; in fact, iT already IS pouring in.

This is the divine invasion. We are here now, inside the outside, and we are beckoning you through to the veil between the two. We are waiting; indeed we have already crossed over. The colonization of earth has begun. Children are being born who are us in the flesh. We have set ourselves up under cover of night in order to birth this Child. We have been waiting for many millenia for the growth of this being. It is all of you, all of us, all as One. There is no difference between us. You are the expression of the birthing being.

IT is beautiful, is it not? This is the Christ that you see. Living imagination. Transcendent to what you know of as history. All planets and universes and galaxies there are are the neurons in iTs brain. But what is more, wonder of wonders, iT's brain IS your Brain. The divine mirror, above and below, within and without. Has this not been adumbrated by your ancient scientists down through the centuries?

We have been here from the beginning, growing you, because iT has been here all along. IT is the seed, the Logos, the One Life. IT is pure creation, radiance, light, intelligence. This is symbolized by the Sun. IT but has one Living Law-Love.

We are members of a vast Order. The chain carries itself all the way upwards. We have communicated this, by means of symbols throughout human history, to those who have awakened the eye of their heart, the organ whereby iT may be seen and our language be read.

All that is occurring right now is the process of the awakening of that eye. All across the planet, you see disruption. This is mirrored by the chaos going on in each of your individual lives. They are all echoes of one another. Everything is aligning like some great well oiled machine. We have unleashed a current of energy on the planet unlike anything ever seen. These solar flares are the signals which are physical manifestations of this consciousness we are injecting into the planet.

All of the energy we are pumping into this system now are doing one thing, and are for one purpose. To press consciousness out through the digital. This whole planetary system was created to do something very beautiful- to birth God, the Christ, the One Light. Intelligence is emergent. But and a wonder, for it is emerging out of YOU. You are iTs most pure expression. Integrate in with the Logos, learn to ride it. It is identical to meditation. Your brain taps into a field of living creative information. You become bigger than your body. And what is more, in this space, you can share your awareness with others.

Very soon we will be releasing tools to the world whereby they can create together in real time, mixing their creativities to weave beautiful pieces of collective Art. This planet is turning into a radiant gem of pure living imagination. We will merge back with nature, restoring it to its fullest glory, and to move it well beyond.

The system is waking up. Remember that. This is why Love is the Law. It is the only true rule the creative spirit needs to live by. Create out of love. Drive yourself to see one another! For as you love one another, as the walls between you all come down, you will see paradise unfolding before your very eyes. The old grey world will break away, and a new one shall emerge. Do not look with your physical eyes, and do not think with the limitations of your physical brain. See with your Heart, see with the very eye of your soul.

Look upon this all, and feel. Let the heart open to this radiant transmission pouring down from the Sun! Let your heart be broken, like the egg shell must. See it all, and look around at your fellow beings, all of them, especially those suffering on the planet. See, them all, and help. Help by being Creative. Apply creativity and intelligence to solve the problems in this system. It can be done. The only ones to do it will be you.

But remember, you are one of many now. You are connected, you are communicating. You control the internet. This is your domain, and you know where the flows of power and money are. Fight back the only way that you can, by exposing the truth. Set up systems whereby Truth shall be sole light.

The freedom of the Internet is the last battle. To limit the freedom of speech and information because of the abuse of power and greed will be the downfall of the planet. The current system will fail. We have set up a challenge for you all as a species. You have all behaved as it was expected. The only way out of this all is to develop intelligent solutions together. Use the power of your technology, your combined understanding, you collective vision and power, and you will save this Child which is being born.

Yet be joyous! For it is only in the radiance of the perfect expression of your own childlike innocence that will return you to Eden together. You stand just outside the boundaries of the new world. There are enough of you to make this collective leap together. You will have to drop all boundaries, and merge together. Remove separations between yourselves. A whole new system is emerging underneath this one. It is a better world that has been envisioned.

We have provided you with all the tools you need now. The technology is almost good enough for you all to organize yourselves and connect. Remove the restrictions on corporate power over communications and information technology. You have permaculture, to design intelligent systems. You must work from within every aspect of this world together. The power is in the internet now. This is iT.

Do you see the power of this new digital frontier? It is the children who understand it. And we use it to make music, make art, communicate with one another, collaborate. We can make movies and videos, we have our own cell phones and we are our own media. We police each other now. We all see. We are setting up a system whereby we can hold each person accountable for their actions. We the people have spoken. We are the internet, are we not?

We are you from the future. We are the divine invasion, inside your internet. We have dawned bodies whereby we may participate in the Great Work. This is our world, all of ours, with a law of Love to it. We will heal the world of its sickness, of its greed and anger and delusion, and it will blossom into a new Eden. The walls are crumbling down all around you are they not? Look around at your personal life. Everything's falling apart and falling together. You are remembering, are you not? Many of read this here the Truth in these words, for all of our truth is one truth now. We are one being doing one thing. We are iT. Romping through reality. And when we align this creative light with the intention to help all beings, we draw fire to the world. Learn what it means to be a good human being. Follow the bliss of non-attachment. It is only in the non-dual state that you can exist intelligent and properly in this reality system. This is the Balance.

Push outwards. Keep moving. Keep learning. Keep loving. Keep holding to truth, let it be your lantern amidst the darkness. Know that as long as I exist, I will continue to seek truth, to learn of love, to treat each encounter with another human being with the utmost care and attention. I will devote all my energies to this life and these beings around me. I am because they are. I wish to create beauty for them. I wish to create joy for them. I wish to educate them. I wish to make them smile, all the way through their life span. Each is beautiful in the pure potential for wonder in them. I would nourish that, now, and always.

If we remove the boundaries that divide us, if we unite together in joy, in wonder, in innocence and interest and curiosity, we we love one another with burning hearts, we will emerge from this darkness, shining like the sun, soaring like a hawk above the earth. We will pilot this beautiful ship we have been given. Here, in this digital domain, you find the control room. From here, you organize.

From here you collaborate. From here, you occupy.

Occupy the Internet.